Discovery of Body in Well

Where brother and sister-in-law began trail—in bedroom—that led them to gruesome discovery in Wellesley.

It was here, in the garret, that they found the gun, the ooth shot from Philip Caranza's mouth, his hat and an empty cartridge.

Following the trail of blood that led from the gun in the garret, they found the body of Carazza erect in the old well, as here shown.

The above photo shows the house and barn at 21 Liberty st., Wellesley, and the diagrams show how Geramo Carazza and his wife followed a trail of blood and found the body of Geramo's brother, Philip, in the well shown in the rear of the barn. Mrs. Geramo Carazza started the search for her brother-in-law when she found his room had not been occupied. Calling her husband, they started a search for Philip. The inserted photo is that of Philip Carazza.

According to Dr. H. A. Christian, professor of medicine in Harvard medical school, the influenza epidemic is spreading east from California, the place of inception and may arrive in Boston within a week, if the present rate continues.

which was called into conference by Surgeon-General Cummings, has telegraphed physicians on the West Coast asking for information regarding the critical aspects of the disease.

It was explained that the board will not make a formal statement of the influenza situation. The board is composed of Dr. W. McCoy, director of health, Dr. J. C. Henshaw, Dr. W. Frost, and Dr. J. P. Leske, all veterinarians, and public health officers. They are expected to submit recommendations for control of the epidemic to the state health department.

Yesterday's total of 40,429 new cases, the highest ever reported, rose to 41,082 when the State health officer reported that he had received reports of 248 new cases in that State.

The bill is expected to go to the Interior Department supply bill committee, which is now considering a bill for the purpose of appropriating for enforcement of the liquor laws among Indians.

CITY EMPLOYEES FIRED IN CIVIL SERVICE DRIVE

A "purification" of the Boston city employees' ranks that may result in ousting several department heads of many years' service, was begun today by the Civil Service Commission in ordering dismissal of 30 temporary laborers.

The dismissals were ordered on allegations that the laborers had falsified Civil Service application papers by failing to state convictions for law violations.

According to understanding at City Hall, the dismissal order is merely the start of a drive to clean out underlings from the city ranks and to oust those heads of departments or other departmental executives who have been harboring the undesirable knowingly.

DRUNKENNESS CHARGED

Some officials, according to the City Hall report, have been winking at habitual drunkenness of employees over so long a period that it came to the notice of civil service.

The dismissal order directed against the temporary laborers came as a result of a check-up of the papers of 250 against court records.

In each application for employment under civil service there is a question relative to court record and conviction.

In the 10 cases today the question was answered falsely, it is charged.

FIREMAN LOSTS JOB

It has also been brought to light, through the dismissals, that in the case of a permanent fireman appointed last September, the Civil Service Commission, checking his papers, discovered he had failed to note down a conviction for law violation.

The fireman has been ordered dismissed.

Another case concerns a ten-year employee who asked for a six-month leave of absence and who was required to make out reinstatement papers on his return.

A check of these papers with court records disclosed that the employee had been convicted in court in two successive months. He has been ordered dismissed likewise.

There are approximately 16,000 employees on the city rolls.

FLIGHTS RULED NO NUISANCE

Worcester, Dec. 13 (AP)—The report of Attorney George H. Mirick in favor of the New England Aircraft, Inc., and the Worcester Airport officials, in the action brought against them by Harry Worcester Smith, was confirmed today by Henry T. Luntz in the equity session of the superior court today.

Attorney Mirick, as master, filed a report setting forth that the flying of planes over the Luntz estate of Mr. Smith in North Grafton did not constitute a nuisance, but there is a question of law relative to trespassing over private property, which is being argued.

BRIDE GRID MASCOT FOR ALL-STAR ELEVEN

WANT SOME RED HOT ICE? JUST ASK THE PROFESSOR!

2 IS COMPANY, BUT 11 IS NOT A CROWD

A quaint innovation in honeymoon customs is being tested on by Ken Strong, New York University football star, and his 24-hour bride, Amelle Himmelman, actress, of Boston.

The couple are taking an entire football team on their honeymoon, and not only a football team, but an all-star aggregation.

After the football star and his actress known on the musical comedy stage as Bette Harrison, had been wed yesterday at "The Little Church Around the Corner," in New York, they hastened to Pittsburgh.

There Strong joined the all-eastern football team which will play an all-star team of western college grid-iron men in San Francisco on December 22.

The bride immediately became the mascot for the All-Eastern stars for the trip across the continent, and she may be permitted to sit on the Eastern bench during the football battle.

WOMAN HALTS FIRE PANIC IN LYNN THEATER

What might have been a fire panic in the Comique Theater on Monroe St., Lynn, was prevented in novel fashion today when Mrs. Eva Newhall, the manager, appeared on the stage and invited the audience of 120 to "just move down front."

Water was dripping into the rear of the theater at the time from upstairs sprinklers which had been set off by a small blaze in an ash-tray.

In spite of the clang of fire-engines outside, the show patrons moved down front to empty seats, as requested, and the performance was resumed.

BOIL YOUR EGGS IN ICE WATER!

DON'T BURN YOURSELF; THAT ICE IS HOT!

Here is the amazing high pressure machine invented by Prof. Percy W. Bridgman of Harvard. It attains a pressure of 600,000 pounds to the square inch. It will boil eggs in ice water, or bake potatoes in a way-below zero atmosphere. It also will produce red hot-ice if you prefer that. Inset is Prof. Bridgman. The device is the marvel of the scientific world today.

BRIDGMAN CAN BOIL EGGS IN ICE WATER

Would you care for a nice hard-boiled egg, "boiled" in ice water? Or an ice-water baked potato and an ice-fired slab of steak?

Maybe you'd prefer a little cube of red-hot ice to warm your today—if you are lucky enough to have a today.

Prof. Percy W. Bridgman of the Harvard University department of physics can produce any of these items for you with his tiny apparatus by which he has succeeded in reaching and measuring pressure of 600,000 pounds per square inch, the highest pressure thus far attained.

The pressure of 600,000 pounds corresponds to the pressure of an atmosphere 5000 miles high, and if Prof. Bridgman's achievement could be applied to submarines, any submarine could descend to a depth of 200 miles beneath the sea if the sea were that deep, without danger of being crushed.

"The method of producing great pressure is very simple," said Prof. Bridgman today at the Jefferson physical laboratory at Harvard.

"All you have to do is take a large, thick block of steel, bore a hole in it and place liquid in the hole.

"Then put into the top of the hole a plug that won't leak, and push on the plug. The only limit to the pressure that may be obtained comes through leaking of the plug or yielding of the steel container."

Prof. Bridgman has perfected a plunger, he said, which solves the leaking problem, but although he uses the hardest of known steel it gives 600,000 pounds' pressure.

The professor has taken water at 120 degrees, has submitted it to a pressure of 200,000 pounds and has made "hot ice," a solid block of water that remains hot while pressure is maintained and it is kept in the solid state.

In ice water, exerted a pressure of 100,000—and has taken out the egg, hard-boiled. The same can be done with steaks, vegetables and any type of food that ordinarily is cooked.

Mercury, which ordinarily freezes at 40 below zero, can be made to freeze at ordinary room temperature under a pressure of 200,000 pounds, he declared.

He calls his experiments "demonstrations of the powers of superstatic pressure."

LOOK N GLASS AVERTS GIRL'S SUICIDE

George Devine, Lynn druggist, glanced into a mirror today—and by his glance the life of Mrs. Madeline Kean, 36, probably was saved.

His mirrorview showed Devine a reflection of the woman raising to her lips a bottle of poison she had just purchased.

Devine darted around the end of a showcase, lunged and knifed the bottle from her mouth, receiving a plentiful splash of the stuff on his clothing.

Then he bent the girl over and thrashed her lustily on the back, causing her to cough out the poison she had taken into her mouth.

Thrust into Lynn Hospital in a police ambulance, she became hysterical, but after being calmed she told police she lived with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gregory, in Buttrick St., Lynn, but wanted to die because she was separated from her husband, and had been unfortunate in another love affair.

She said she had been married at 15 years and is the mother of three children, now with their father in Lawrence.

W. BOSTON GAS CO. ACCUSED

Attorney Larus Brown, representing objections to the proposed issue of $200,000 in capital stock by the West Boston Gas Company at a hearing today before the Public Utilities Commission, accused the company of undue "sneaky."

The company sells gas to residents of Framingham, Natick, Ashland and Needham and to Marlborough-Hudson Gas Company and Indian & Hyde Park Gas & Electric Company.

Atty. Brown renewed the corporation's failure to furnish him information asked, including names of the principal stockholders.

"Why should there be any secrecy?" he asked. "Do they expect the Utilities Department will take improper advantage of the information?"

Atty. Robert G. Dodge, for the company, said it had furnished all possible information and that names of stockholders had no bearing on the case.

Driver Hurt in Trunk Crash

Thomas Larkin, 35, of Greenough Ave., Cambridge, was injured slightly today when a truck operated by Frank V. Moroney of Durham St., Somerville, collided with the rear end of a two-horse wagon he was driving on Rutherford Ave., Charlestown. The force of the collision threw Larkin from the seat to the floor of the wagon.

STILL BELIEVES IN NEW HUSBAND

Marietta O'Brien, actress bride of Producer Ned Jacobs, intends to help him in his fight of exoneration from charges brought by the woman who claims to be his common law wife.

Pretty actress keeps her lithe legs shapely by simple exercises as seen in photo. Besides refraining from wearing articles of clothing that bind the flesh, Miss O'Brien massages her supple limbs with goats' milk every morning and evening. No wonder she takes pride in their graceful curves and delights to have them in air for all to see and admire.

WARREN QUITS
POLICE POST

New York, Dec. 12.—Police Commissioner Joseph A. Warren resigned today for the second time—and his resignation was accepted by Mayor Walker.

Coincidentally it was learned that Grover A. Wilson, official spokesman, has agreed to become Warren's successor.

The police commissioner said he desired to return to his law practice, but made no mention of the $10,000 fine.

LIFE TERM FOR WOMAN STIRS CONGRESSMEN

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Congressmen were aroused today by the impending sentence to life imprisonment of Mrs. Etta Lisa Miller after a fourth liquor trial in Michigan.

Rep. Clayton (R.) of Michigan derided the situation as "a manifestation of unpardonable fanaticism."

"I believe in drastic laws to rid the country of hardened criminals," he cannot see where sentencing a mother of four children to life imprisonment for violation of the liquor law will in any way correct the situation or lessen the violation of this law.

Rep. Cravens (R.) of Michigan, unofficial dry leader of the House, united his comment to the following:

"The only way the very serious crime situation that now confronts our country can be met is by stern measures rather than sentiment. The federal government must be put in a position to enforce the law."

"I think it is an outrage and an insult against our civilization," said Rep. Mond (D.) of New York. "It shows that the country has gone insane over one law and has forgotten the basic of the law of justice."

"I have for executive clemency," but while that might alleviate the public mind, I hope that such an outrage will have the effect of bringing a new demand for individual liberty."

Representative La Guardia (D.) of New York said that "it typifies the tendency of the prohibition law."

"I think it is another example of the violation of other parts of the Constitution to enforce the law," said Representative Black (D.) of New York. "This tends to me to be cruel and unusual punishment and is an example of how the law operates against the poor and in favor of the rich. While the king of bootleggers is at liberty, a woman who has forced into law violation to support 10 children gets life imprisonment."

CALF SENTENCE RIGHT
Mrs. Miller's conviction was upheld by Justice S. Wesley, executive secretary of the Interstate Prohibition Association. He is here for the meeting of the national united committee for law enforcement.

"It is unfortunate, perhaps, that this woman should receive a life sentence for selling liquor, but her previous convictions should have been a warning to Mrs. Miller," he said.

WILLIMETTE WIFE'S NURSE

The nurse who attended his wife in her last illness and who has since been his housekeeper, according to members of his family, will become the bride of Linda Huxley, 16, retired real estate dealer, of Foster st., Brighton.

She is Miss Harriett C. Ross, 40. The couple filed marriage intentions today at City Hall.

Baxter, whose wife died two years ago, is a member of a family that has lived for generations in the Brighton district and he was once active in Boston politics.

Abducting Bank Clerk Pleads Guilty

Harvard, who having indications of suicide, only to be found and arrested yesterday in a Brooklyn store, today pleaded guilty to larceny of $1200 white emerald by the New England Trust Co.

The case continued until Dec. 17 for disposition by Judge Fosholm in Suffolk Superior Court and Justice was sent to Charles St. Jail, because he could not put up $5000 bail. Besides left a wife and two children in Malden when he vanished.

Three Held in $5000 Each for Auto Theft

Probable cause was found by Judge Rutherford in Somerville district court today in the cases of Joseph P. Walsh of Magnolia ave., Cambridge; John McInnis of Washington st., Somerville; and Martin Fitzgerald of Cleveland st., Arlington, charged with larceny of an automobile. They were held in $5000 each for the grand jury.

DEATH HELD OFF FOR 'GOOD TIME'

Oswining, N. Y., Dec. 12 (INS)—Thomas "Red" Moran, slayer of two Brooklyn policemen, today was granted two additional hours of life. Originally scheduled for 1 o'clock tonight, his execution has now been set back until 11 a. m. Sing Sing prisoners are giving a performance of "No. No. Nanette" tonight and it was feared that an 11 o'clock execution would confuse both the spectators and the musicians.

Pick King George's Son-in-Law

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—Viscount Lascelles, son-in-law of King George, was today elected chairman of the Royal Agricultural Society, which will hold its 1929 show at Harrogate, near his Yorkshire residence, Goldborough Hall.

MONASTERY IN QUAKE ZONE

Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 12 (AP)—Pronounced earthquakes were felt today in the region of the famous Rila Monastery, and the population fled to the streets.

Rila is at the base of the Rila-Rhodope and about 40 miles south by road of Sofia. Eleven miles to the east, in the case, could be questioned.

Arrested in Default; Says He Paid Fine

Assuming he had been arrested on a default warrant for speeding after he already had paid a fine for the offense, Paul Kerstein in Roxbury court today asked Judge Ahern to free him.

No record of the fine having been paid was found and the court ordered a continuance until all officers in the case could be questioned.

HUNTER OF BIG GAME WORRIES OVER 'KIT'

Strained with battle which he may encounter in approaching regions of French Indochina, he does not worry about the possibility of losing his "kit" or the possibility of not having a "kit" to use.

Today, however, upon the order of his contingent of the Kellogg expedition, as he is called, he packed.

Conclude and Dr. Ralph B. Whipple, a physician at the City Hospital, will continue to work on the first leg of their long trip into wild country on the Chinese border.

They will on the Express of France for Vancouver, B. C., on December 22 and were today receiving their Christmas gifts and good wishes.

Although only 24 years old, Harold J. Coolidge, Jr., has already won distinction on expeditions.

His continent will specialize in small mammals and birds, he said. "We do not know whether we shall find new specimens or not, but we shall bring back those native to the wild regions of northwest Indo-China and southern Yunnan."

Supplies for the expedition, which was sponsored by William J. Kelley for the Field Museum of Natural History at Chicago, were shipped several months ago to points selected on the rivers of that region for base camps.

Combined Law Course Is Abolished

New Haven, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Yale law school and Yale College have agreed that the combined course in the law school heretofore open to college seniors shall be abolished, the Yale Daily News said today. This action takes effect with the opening of the semester, 1929-30, but special provision will be made for members of the class of '29 who have planned to enroll in the combined course.

The reason given is that the college has not felt that the combined course was entirely satisfactory, wishing to have its students spend more years on cultural subjects before taking up professional study.

Prohibition Body Broadens Its Work

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—The national prohibition conference, the 10-year-old organization of national temperance bodies, passed out of existence at midnight with the organization in its stead of the national conference of organizations supporting the 18th amendment.

The new conference, adopted a constitution which commits it to prosecute, covering all prohibition and alcohol problems, replacing the program of the older body, which was limited to consideration of legislation affecting prohibition and of party platforms and candidates.

After too hasty a lunch, or too hearty a dinner, a little "Pape's Diaprepin," instantly neutralizes excess acidity, stops this fermentation, and soothes and heals the acid and stomach lining as it by magic. Your recovery is quick and complete. Make a special point of getting a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diaprepin" from your druggist today, and so follow the example of millions all over the world who use "Pape's Diaprepin" to end indigestion and allied stomach troubles.

STOP BEING A "LAXATIVE ADDICT"

If it's not—it isn't necessary to be a slave to habit-forming laxatives. This continued dosing of the bowels to relieve constipation can mean a lifetime of troubles—unless you take the time now to stop it. Stop it by taking the remedy that tends to do away with all dosing—Thalax the "habit-forming" laxative. Take a tablet or two before going to bed. In the morning there will be no distress, no griping, instead, the bowels will move easily, naturally. Continue Thalax at intervals, when you need it, and you'll experience always the same prompt, easy results. But you'll find these intervals growing longer and longer, until you'll need a laxative only very rarely.

Why? Because Thalax has a strengthening, toning effect on the bowels muscles, gradually bringing back their natural easy action, making medicine entirely unnecessary. It's worth the trying, at least, isn't it? Ask for Thalax at any good drug store. Bottle of 10 tablets, 35 cents. Should your druggist not have it on hand, we will be glad to supply you direct. K. A. Hughes Company, Boston, Mass.

Rickard Missed Chance For Greatest Fight

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Rickard made known today how he lost the chance to promote the biggest fight of his career—a war between Bolivia and Paraguay.

Rickard spent eight years in Paraguay for the Paraguayan syndicate in the cattle industry. "In 1922," said Rickard, "I came up through the Argentine with two cowboys, 30,000 head of cattle and a train of about 50 wagons."

"In Paraguay we had a lot of forts filled with Bolivian soldiers, who said if we didn't turn back they'd shoot us."

"Well, we came out and went south through the Argentine to Buenos Aires, and thence over the Paraguay river. When told of our experience the Paraguayan said if I'd go out and fight the Bolivians they'd provide the army."

"I wired my people in Buenos Aires and they cable Mr. Farquhar in Paris. But he didn't want a war as he had too much at stake. So I missed my chance to lead an army."

Rickard said he still owns 300 square miles of land in the Gran Chaco, the disputed territory.

QUINCY POLICE HUNTING TWO SCHOOLBOYS

Quincy police were asked today to search for two pupils of Center junior high school who disappeared shortly after school was out yesterday, according to their parents.

The boys are Harold Lettney, 14, son of Mrs. Rose Lettney of East Quincy, and Donald Barret, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barret of Harwich.

It was the first time either boy had stayed away from home since night, police were told.

WARRANT KEEPS 5 HURT AS CARS COLLIDE IN NO. PROVIDENCE

A forgiving husband, a repentant wife and three youngsters who "went mamma" home for Christmas seemed likely today to be denied a holiday reunion, because Chief of Police Everett P. Russell of East Providence refused to grant a warrant charging Mrs. Freda Jones, the wife, with neglect of her minor child.

Mrs. Jones, who is 35 years old, disappeared a month ago, and her husband, Hubert M. Jones, asked her arrest. Now Jones has heard Mrs. Jones is in Boston, in "hurry" and would like to return to the family; if she can do so without coming to jail.

Jones today begged Chief Russell to scratch the charge against Mrs. Jones off the books. "The ends of justice must be served," the chief told him. The warrant must stand.

Appeals are pouring in.

Providence, Dec. 13 (AP)—Philip P. Sullivan of Elliott st. and Ralph Amosson of Adams st., both of Providence were taken to the Memorial Hospital in Pawtucket early today after an automobile in which they were riding collided with another in North Providence.

Sullivan, who was driving, received a possible fracture of the leg and lacerations of the face. Amosson received lacerations of the face and a fractured knee.

The second machine was driven by Charles P. Town, Linden ave. and Lawrence, N. Y. Town and two passengers were also injured.

Hospital Girl Weds Former Taxi-Pastor

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Frances Elizabeth Ames Moore, when a hospital girl, was especially pleased by a sermon on the duty of happy marriage and the duty of happy divorce.

Now she is married to the preacher, the Rev. Thomas Harvey Whiteley, Presbyterian, who for six months drove a taxi to get material for his sermons.

Play Shows Value of Baker Foundation

To educate and acquaint the public with the work of the Judge Baker Foundation, a novel feature was incorporated in the annual luncheon held at the Brunswick.

A five-act play and oratorio was staged before 150 members and friends, who had previously been given a case study folder containing all data on one Percy Doe, aged 32.

Act 1—Scene 1—Percy Doe takes place in a court room, with a real judge, Frederick Child, presiding. The court, since he was an imaginative boy, brought before him a boy, in the form of a large black and white plaster. Percy (who is Percy Doe) is carried by the judge to a fair trial, convicted of "seducing" and sentenced to an institution.

Mrs. Abbott, a woman from the Judge Baker Foundation, five different people then passed to make an analysis of Percy Doe, studying him from five different angles, each drawing his or her conclusions.

Scene 2—The staff psychologist, Louise M. Wood, continuing the analysis, finds the boy very co-operative, intelligent, quiet and a bit of a loner.

Scene 3—Miss G. Goodman then has the report of her "Guidance" mother's story, family history, health, school, church and home conditions.

Scene 4—Miss Doe, head of social service, contributes all the reports on father, mother and child, as obtained from various social agencies.

Scene 5—Dr. Anna Skinner, psychiatrist, gets from Percy his own story, earliest memories, likes, dislikes and ambitions.

Scene 6—Miss Doe, head of social service, contributes all the reports on father, mother and child, as obtained from various social agencies.

Scene 7—The oratorio saw a happy solution of Percy's problem, by his being placed in a foster home in the suburbs. In conclusion, Judge Child said: "I believe that the Judge Baker Foundation is essential in intelligent dealing with delinquent boys and girls who, if left alone, will go through our courts as criminals."

The Arlington Women's club is holding a conference January 9 in regard to the work of the foundation. Various other clubs have manifested great interest in it, asking that special speakers from the foundation be sent to their meetings.

Among those present were Mrs. Marion Abbott, volunteer psychologist in behalf of the foundation; Judge and Mrs. Himmelfarb.

JOBLESS WHEN DAM BREAKS

Malden, Me. Dec. 13 (AP)—About 500 of the 5000 people who live in the town of Malden, Me. were made jobless when the dam which supplies water to the town broke.

The dam, which is owned by the Maine Paper Co., broke at about 10 o'clock last night. The water rushed down the river, and the town of Malden was flooded. The water was so high that it was impossible to get into the town. The water was so high that it was impossible to get into the town. 62 year old shoes

Just about six decades have passed since Coward Shoes came into being. And never, since 1866, have Coward Shoes lost that distinct personality which somehow sets them quite apart from other good shoes.

Today more than ever, after 62 birthdays, the very phrase, Coward Shoes, has an individual meaning. "Quality shoes for men, women and children"—the phrase is 62-years-old, and 62-years true.

By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

THE Nobel Peace Prize for 1928

will not be awarded this year. President Coolidge almost got it. In fact, the committee had Cal at the top of the list, but when Cal up and orders 15 tough cruise.

A man who buys his cruises in half-dozing quantities is not the man to judge peace medals.

The Municipal Prize will not be awarded to Chicago, a town that has achieved the peace that passes all understanding.

Neither will the individual citizen be shattered on the handsome and enigmatic in a Nicaraguan revolution.

China Long, the renowned Chinese bandit, almost got a majority of votes. Only one vote got away from Chin Long. And that was because Chin's life is insured.

Looking over the roster of belligerent signers you can see that legal considerations are scarier than Zepplin hangars.

The prize would have been Cal's if it hadn't been for those 15 cruise.

No man in the world makes a radio program quite so powerful as Cal.

No dignity can induce a greater valdactory or bugle and throw a more drastic national budget.

And of all the pilgrims who only one who is still on the Mayflower.

The Mayflower was the boat that lost Cal the prize. The committee refused to believe that Mr. Coolidge was ordering 15 more yacht.

So this will be an off-year in the Nobel Peace business. The committee requires a vacation in order to regain its health.

While awarding the 1928 medal the committee was seriously injured in the struggle.

Not one word of the committee escaped bruises and raps in the 1927 scramble.

And everybody remembers say back in 1909 when the choice lay between Teddy Roosevelt and the Kaiser.

That was the year Teddy called on William in reference to the Peace Prize and asked him to sign the Covenant, 1928 by Universal Service.

Don't go near the water in an open command for the far balling suit which is predicted to be a popular novelty at the Southern in suits this winter. A fitted bodice of almost green broadened velvet is lined with a little skirt of black and white monkey fur. The bathing suit is still lined throughout.

relative SAVINGS BANK

On Oct. 31, 1928, Massachusetts Savings Bank Life Insurance Co. reported a record of practically 10 years of practical experience. Since then almost a month has passed and the amount of business transacted has reached $50,000,000, representing more than 100,000 policies.

The premiums received from policies issued since the institution was established have amounted to $13,000,000. The total amount of the company's funds have amounted to $1,310,000. The total was $12,141,935.54.

Dividends have been paid and accumulated to date. Policies issued are exceeding three million dollars and the company has received $1,374,485 have been paid to policyholders on account of the contributions to the fund.

From the total claim have been paid $1,000,000. In other words, the claims claims represent only about 14% per cent of the income. The total amount during the first year has amounted to $17,334.24.

During the 20 years, the legal reserve and surplus funds accumulated by the banks and trust companies have grown to an amount exceeding $100,000,000.

A person age 30 at entry, who received $100,000 in 1924 and $100,000 in 1925, would have received $100,000 in 1926 and $100,000 in 1927. There has not been a single year during the 20 years that he has not received $100,000, according to his policy.

When Savings Bank Life Insurance Co. was established, the company claimed that it was founded on the principle of "no cashing out." The company said, "The one challenging, and the one demolishing argument against the company is that it is a cashing out policy will not voluntarily insure and pay out."

The answer is that during the six years ended October 31, 1927, the company paid out $1,000,000,000 and written article 10 of the constitution by savings banks was not violated.

Companies that do not include any insurance written as to the insured's life, but which employ the two actuaries employed by the descriptions to the for '91 nine months $2,000,000 and that the amount to $367,000.

Such are to provide December financial statement to approximately $200,000,000. The larger announcements and the also made when final the companies had seemed to be that men would not pay their life insurance premiums except to the spur of peralstent persuasion the insurance agent.

The answer to this is that the lapse ratio of the policies written by the savings banks is now less than one per cent of the number written. Not one have the new voluntarily applied for insurance and continued to pay their

The Nickerson Boys

If Santa Claus Neglects These Chaps He's a Pious Old Fraud

If the very young gentlemen of your household are expecting too much of Santa Claus or his successor this year, you MIGHT tell them about the Nickerson boys of Stockton Springs.

The Nickersons are Harold, 12, and Paul, 14 years old. Tired and footsore, they walked every foot of the 30 miles from Stockton Springs up to Bangor, one day last week, bound for Corinna—25 miles further on—and possible employment in the big woods.

The youngsters were as heavy laden as veteran hikers. In addition to several steel traps and a gun they carried a wessel skin and two skunk skins. For these there was a ready market.

Why had they taken to the road? What was it all about? Well, "Dad," he came down from the woods around Corinna with a badly infected hand and he was likely to be laid up for the Winter. There were three younger children at home and—"you see," said Paul Nickerson.

Bangor saw. There was a room for the night at the Y. M. C. A. for them, the proprietor of a restaurant supplied two warm meals and the City Missionary was prompt with warm gloves and warmer caps. In the morning a well-disposed motorist was waiting to drive them to Corinna.

How did it come about that their father consented to such a venture? "We dragged it out of him," the younger boy explained. Were there not seven in the family? Did it not stand to reason that SOMEBODY must work? "Well, then."

How much did they KNOW about work in the woods? Everything! Was not Paul the teamster, only one year ago, in the yarding of five hundred cords of wood?

Bangor permitted them to pass on and cheered them as they went. They've got the stuff in them, as surely as the men of Maine have had it for generations, and they'll "get along," but one cannot contemplate their plight and their task without the wish that two such plucky lads may meet with opportunity equal to their courage.

Bodily Grace

Ida Rubinstein Illustrates It

CARELESS ART

These pictures show the famous Ida Rubinstein, marvelously graceful, much admired French actress, for whom D'Annunzio wrote his play, "St. Sebastian."

Once she was called the thinnest woman on the stage. But with common sense, and years, she has corrected that and is now nicely, gracefully and artistically "padded."

These pictures are printed for the benefit of young women that want to be graceful, instead of following the present fashion which is to be SLOUCHY and skiny.

This woman, trained in everything mentally and physically, knows how to HOLD HERSELF.

PERFECT BODY CONTROL

Whether she sits at ease in a chair, or bending over as you see her in the second picture, she knows exactly where her feet, hands and legs are.

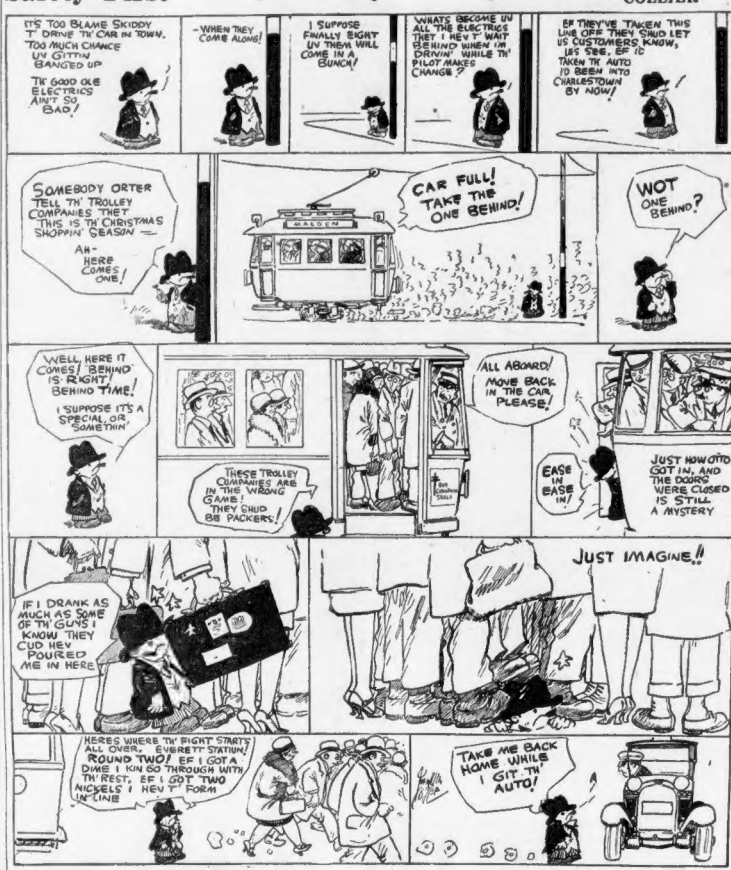

Long habit of careful attention makes this grace of attitude second nature.

Young ladies, imitate this artistic person, don't stand with your little stomach sticking out and your shoulders slouching down.

Hold your head back, that straightens the backbone, and raises the ribs at the top of your lungs.

If you keep the ribs pressed down and at the top of the lungs, pressing on the "spines" that makes consumption start. Be like Ida Rubinstein, and don't get consumption.

Safety First

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Manhattan's home-going rush, long a delirium of utter confusion, is growing worse. New Yorkers are accustomed to the diurnal flurry, but for the stranger there is a never forgotten spectacle in the swift rush, clang and clanging madhouse.

The city push is between 5 and 6 a. m. at no time does the city seem so terrifying. In crowded centers it becomes a stampede with life and disaster separated by a hair's breadth. More than two million people leave the city nightly for the suburbs.

The heaviest stream of pedestrian traffic is across 42nd st., where commuters hurry dog trot along to catch trains. It requires ten traffic cops to keep them moving at 42nd and Fifth ave., the pivotal point to congestion when the rush is on.

Times sq., Brooklyn bridge, 14th and Grand Central are the high spots of underground jams. The subway kiosks swallow millions like human eelgrass scurrying into their holes. Then there are the motels at ferries, on elevated platforms and in the tubes.

That this traffic tangle is performed in an hour is one of the city's miracles. The dead calm and desolation of New York streets between 7 and 8, before the night crowds begin moving, is almost a touch of the supernatural. The most striking illustration of tranquility is in Wall Street.

After sundown the only show of the fast and furious life of the day are the gears of steam from the street gutters and the sparkling of lonely night watchmen guarding the nation's hour of slumber. To all appearances Wall Street becomes a completely abandoned area.

In spite of the rush hour tangle, there is a communal consideration and friendliness among gallery in city folk. The lane, halt and silent move that help to their change greetings with those they have learned to know only by sight.

DELICATESSEN SIGHT "All the lonely, you can eat—no eat." Even at that price it would never be a weakness. I'm a true amateur.

FROM a circular just received from a haberdashery: "Patrons who inspect our shelves are permitted to select whatever designs suit their fancy. It may be all right but it is a real work."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

WE were talking about the wreck of the Vestra.

"Why say the captain went down with his ship?" someone remarked. That's according to sailor tradition but don't you think it's a senseless tradition?

Yes, I suppose it's senseless to expect a man to die with his ship, giving up his life for a vague point of honor. It certainly seems dumb against all our selfish, animal instincts.

Yes, we expect men to do things like that. We despise them if they don't. And out of the whole human record we reverence most those acts of senseless sacrifice for principle.

Now, why should such inconsistency run clear through our history? Why should men, that stand, cruel, selfish, cowardly and greedy, risk everything he has, even his life, for some person or principle he loves?

If just one of two had done it you might call it impulse or manly. But when millions have done it—when even the lowest men are torn with the longing to be great enough to do it—what do you make of that? Now can you line that up with the law of self-preservation?

Why should a man hang on a cross or burn at a stake or rot among lepers when he might save his foot notions, get a regular job and sit pretty for the rest of his life?

Why should a man go down with his ship? What good does that do? That won't save those that were drowned, will it?

Why should a man drudge away his life in an office to take care of a nagging wife and a bunch of ungrateful youngsters when he might be roasting, free, in every part of the Seven Seas?

Ten men do these things, do they do them as though some law were at work in them which they could not resist.

Well—perhaps there is! We say it's senseless to throw one's life away—that it's against the law of self-preservation. But does it only mean preserving the body or does it perhaps mean preserving something infinitely more precious than the body—something that will persist when the body has died heroically on the cross or drowned in the ocean or withered in an office?

Aren't we really fighting for our lives—for our greater lives—when we throw our lives away?

Isn't the old story true—H.W. WHO WOULD SAVE HIS LIFE MUST LOSE IT?

Why must we hang on a cross or burn at a stake or rot among lepers when he might save his foot notions, get a regular job and sit pretty for the rest of his life?

Why should a man go down with his ship? What good does that do? That won't save those that were drowned, will it?

Why should a man drudge away his life in an office to take care of a nagging wife and a bunch of ungrateful youngsters when he might be roasting, free, in every part of the Seven Seas?

Too Rowdy

by FRANKLIN COLLIER

Halloween must mend its ways or end its days.

No self-respecting people will long submit to the deliberate sabotage and malicious mischief that now annually parades in Fun's old masks.

Excess is always responsible for reaction. Abused liberties invariably provoke the laws that restrict them.

Wherever lids have been clamped on former privileges, an outraged public was compelled to protect itself.

"Tick-tack," apple-bobbing, doorbell ringing and harmless buffoonery seem too tame for a generation that demands the right of public petting and carries a hip flask to high school parties.

The innocent pranks of your boyhood don't tickle its funny bone. Adolescence now hungers for stronger and "higher" meats.

Its conception of a good time is characteristically illustrated by the recent experience of Hudson River towns, where valuable fences were demolished and burned, manure and will heaped on porches, shop windows covered with soap-scribbled obscenities, and wire cables stretched across street turns at windshield height, at the risk of decapitating drivers.

No one wishes to deprive youth of a single play hour, but such outrages as these are inspired by rufianism, not play spirit.

Metropolitan congestion and traffic intensity have absorbed former larking grounds; gone are the vacant lots that echoed to the swat of bats and the spit of roasting potatoes.

There's no room for prisoner's base or hop-scotch on crowded sidewalks, and none between streams of passing cars for football practice or hide-and-seek.

But sympathetic understanding of changed conditions is one thing, and submission to hooliganism quite another.

Boys can be boys without becoming incendiaries, wreckers and rotters.

Contempt for property rights, life and limb, expressed by hoodlum outbreaks, even one day per year, tends to encourage gangster tendencies through the rest of the year, and must in time lessen respect for all law and order.

If Halloween won't stick to "safety and sanity," it deserves a reformatory.
